

Reagen Oy
Frost & Sullivan Award Analyst Quotes
2020 European Zoonotic Point-of-care Diagnostics Company of the Year Award

Reagen is a point-of-care (POC) diagnostic for zoonotic disease specialists with a sterling reputation worldwide. The company's innovative, high-value solutions in high-need and high-cost niche segments typically change the patient's care pathway, improving health outcomes on largely neglected patient populations.

Reagen leverages its domain expertise, state-of-the-art research and development (R&D), and cutting-edge production facilities to develop and manufacture its ReaScan® product line on premise, underpinning its commitment to offering high-quality products. With a variation coefficient of 10% and high sensitivity and specificity, Reagen's ReaScan rapid testing system enables prompt, confident clinical decision making at the point of care.

Reagen strengthens its pioneering leadership in zoonotic diseases by offering superior system performance and established test validity and clinical utility to address the unmet diagnostic needs in infectious diseases.

Unmesh Lal
Industry Principal
Transformational Health
Frost & Sullivan